BuildUp MN

Whole-Building Air Leakage in the Minnesota Energy Code

The 2024 Minnesota Commercial Energy Code establishes requirements for whole-building air leakage, which can be met through air leakage testing or a continuous air barrier design and installation verification program (Section 5.4.3.1.1). Use the decision tree below to understand the requirements and available exceptions.

Resource brought to you by BuildUp MN.

Our resources and training materials represent our own unofficial interpretation of the energy code. Support provided by BuildUp MN is advisory only and non-binding. Contact the team at info@buildupmn.org.

View the full guide.

BuildUp MN is a statewide program under Minnesota's Efficient Technology Accelerator (ETA), a partnership funded by the state's participating investor-owned utilities (IOUs) and consumer-owned utilities (COUs), administered by the Minnesota Department of Commerce, Division of Energy Resources (DER), and implemented by Center for Energy and Environment (CEE).